

Alexander Olevskii

Sampling of signals and exponential frames

How often one should measure a signal with given spectrum in order to be able to recover it ? Does a "universal" sampling exist , which works well for any spectrum of fixed size, independently of its structure and localization ? I will survey classical background and discuss the recent progress.