Interactions between geometry and graphs

Sergio Cabello
University of Ljubljana

I will describe some of the interactions between graphs and geometry. In particular, I will discuss properties of intersection graphs defined by geometric objects and how tools from computational geometry become useful for some algoritmic problems on graphs.